SENATE ENVIRONMENT AND ENERGY COMMITTEE

STATEMENT TO

SENATE, No. 2369

with committee amendments

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

DATED: JANUARY 30, 2017

The Senate Environment and Energy Committee favorably reports Senate Bill No. 2369 with committee amendments.

This bill would limit the application of Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) rules concerning shellfish habitat for certain dredging activities.

Specifically, under the bill, as amended, the DEP would be prohibited from requiring a person to comply with the requirements of N.J.A.C.7:7-9.2, or any substantially similar rule or regulation concerning the regulation of activities in areas designated as shellfish habitat, when the person applies to the department for any permit or other approval to dredge:

(1) the established footprint of a functioning marina in operation on the date of enactment of this bill into law or the footprint of a marina that was in operation up to 10 years prior to the date of enactment of this bill into law;

(2) along a 75-foot wide direct channel between any marina described in paragraph (1) and its docks and the closest State or federal navigation channel serving the locality for the marina;

(3) within 250 feet of a vertical timber or other material bulkhead supporting an upland development with a water dependent use or that had a water dependent use up to 10 years prior to the date of enactment of this bill into law; or

(4) within 250 feet of the mean high water line adjacent to an upland development with a water dependent use or that had a water dependent use up to 10 years prior to the date of enactment of this bill into law.

A person dredging under paragraphs (3) and (4) could only dredge the area of the bay floor that is essential to the water dependent use of the upland development. Further, the bill specifies that the provisions of the bill would not apply to dredging at any upland development the construction of which is commenced after the enactment of the bill into law, or the expansion of a water dependent use at any upland development.

The term “water dependent use,” as used in the bill, includes, but is not limited to, a commercial or residential pier, dock, or marina activity that takes place on or near the water, such as commissioning or decommissioning a new or used boat, boat repairs, boat docking, boat storage, fish processing plants and other commercial fishing operations, port activities requiring the loading or unloading of vessels, and water-oriented recreation.

The committee amendments to the bill:

(1) prohibit the DEP from requiring a permit or other approval to dredge the footprint of a marina that was in operation up to 10 years prior to the date of enactment of this bill into law;

(2) specify that a person may dredge within 250 feet of a vertical timber or other material bulkhead supporting an upland development with a water dependent use or that had a water dependent use up to 10 years prior to the date of enactment of this bill into law;

(3) specify that a person may dredge within 250 feet of the mean high water line adjacent to an upland development with a water dependent use or that had a water dependent use up to 10 years prior to the date of enactment of this bill into law;

(4) remove the requirement that the water dependent use be authorized by a riparian grant or lease in effect on the date of enactment of the bill into law;

(5) clarify that the bill does not apply to dredging at any upland development the construction of which commenced after the date of enactment of the bill into law or the expansion of any water dependent use at any upland development, and that a person dredging for these purposes would be required to address impacts to shellfish in accordance with applicable rules and regulations;

(6) change the definition of “water dependent use” to include a commercial or residential pier, dock, or marina activity that takes place on or near the water; and

(7) provide that boat docking is a water dependent use under the bill.
