30:4 - 123.10 and 11

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY OF R. S. 30:4-123.10 and 11

(Release of prisoners - Parole)

Laws 1943, Chapter 84 - S-12 - Introduced March 8, 1943 by Senator Young

This bill had statement:

This bill implements Section II of Article V of the new State Constitution by providing a system for the granting of parole by a parole board which will also aid and advise the Governor in the exercise of executive clemency.

Laws 1950, Chapter 292 - S-361 - Introduced April 3, 1950 by Mr. Hand

Not amended during passage. This bill had statement:

The Attorney-General recently declared improper a procedure which has been in existence in New Jersey for a considerable period of time and as a result of which the minimum and maximum limits of a series of consecutive sentences were combined to produce a single aggregate minimum and maximum.

This bill is designed to permit such procedure by legislative enactment and is patterned after the law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which was confronted with a similar situation in 1937.

The bill has the approval of the State Parole Board.

Laws 1953, Chapter 277 - A-364 - Introduced February 16, 1953 by Mr. Beasley, Jr.

Not amended during passage. This bill had statement:

The purpose of this act is twofold. First, with respect to the amendment in Section 10, the experience gathered by the State Parole Board indicates that a limited number of prisoners in confinement in State Prison have imposed upon them several consecutive sentences, all of long duration, the net effect of which is that these prisoners cannot hope to appear before the Parole Board during their lifetime.

There are sentences recorded with a minimum of 60 to 70 years and a maximum well in excess of 100 years. A prisoner with a minimum of 60 years must serve in excess of 40 years before he can be considered for release on parole. On the other hand, a life sentence prisoner is eligible at the expiration of 25 years of service of sentence less commutation and work time credits. The amendment to Section 19 is designed to give long-term minimum-maximum sentence prisoners eligibility for parole consideration comparable to that afforded life sentence prisoners under the same Parole Law.

The amendment to Section 12 provides that if a prisoner is convicted and sentenced as an habitual offender and receives greater penalty by way of a longer sentence as a result thereof, that he shall not, for the purpose of parole consideration, be subject to the existing provisions of Section 22. It must be remembered that this amendment is designed only to create an eligibility date and in no sense requires the Parole Board to release at any specified time short of the maximum term imposed by the court.

The purposes of this bill have the approval of the State Parole Board, the State Board of Control of Institutions and Agencies, the Commissioner thereof and the officials charged with the administration of the Prison.

CHAPTER 102 LAWS OF N. J. 56

APPROVED 6/14/56

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR

ASSEMBLY, No. 357

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

ADOPTED APRIL 30, 1956

An Act to amend "An act providing for a system for the granting of paroles in certain cases, establishing a State Parole Board and defining its composition, powers and duties, and repealing sections 30:4-106.1, 30:4-106.2 and 30:4-142 of the Revised Statutes," approved May 28, 1948 (P. L. 1948, c. 84).

1 BE IT ENACTED by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New
2 Jersey:

1 1. Section 10 of the act of which this act is amendatory is amended to
2 read as follows:

3 10. No inmate of a penal or correctional institution serving a sentence
4 for a fixed minimum and maximum term shall be eligible for consideration
5 for release on parole until he has served his minimum sentence or 1/3 of 6 his fixed maximum sentence, less, in each instance, commutation time there-
7 from for good behavior and for diligent application to work assignments
8 [or 1/3 of his fixed maximum sentence without regard to commutation time],
9 whichever occurs sooner, subject to the provisions of section 12 hereof.

10 Whenever, after the effective date of this act, 2 or more sentences to 11 run consecutively are imposed at the same time by any court of this State
12 upon any person convicted of crime herein, there shall be deemed to be im-
13 posed upon such person a sentence the minimum of which shall be the total of

EXPLANATION—Matter enclosed in bold-faced brackets [thus] in the above bill is not enacted and is intended to be omitted in the law.

14 the minimum limits of the several sentences so imposed, and the maximum
15 of which shall be the total of the maximum limits of such sentences. For pur-
16 poses of determining the date upon which such a person shall be eligible for 17 consideration for release on parole, the board shall consider the minimum
18 sentence of such person to be the total aggregate of all the minimum limits
19 of such consecutive sentences and the maximum sentence of such person to 20 be the total aggregate of all of the maximum limits of such consecutive 21 sentences.

22 With regard to consecutive sentences imposed upon prisoners prior to
23 July 3, 1950, and also with regard to consecutive sentences imposed upon
24 prisoners subsequent to July 3, 1950, by different courts at different times,
25 all such consecutive sentences, with the consent of the prisoner, may be aggre-
26 gated by the board to produce a single sentence, the minimum and maximum 27 of which shall consist of the total of the minima and maxima of such con-
28 secutive sentences. Such aggregation shall be for the purpose of establish-29 ing the date upon which such prisoner shall be eligible for consideration for 30 release on parole.

31 When any such prisoner is released on parole the period of his super-
32 vision under parole shall be measured by the aggregated maxima of his con-
33 secutive sentences.

34 Notwithstanding any of the other provisions of this act, whenever it
35 shall appear that the date upon which a prisoner shall be eligible for con-
36 sideration for release on parole occurs later than the date upon which he 37 would be so eligible if a life sentence had been imposed upon him, then, and 38 in such case, he shall be deemed eligible for consideration for release on 39 parole after having served 25 years of his sentence, or sentences, less com-
40 mutation time for good behavior and time credits earned and allowed by 41 reason of diligent application to work assignments.

1 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

14 of the minimum limits of the several sentences so imposed, and the maxi-
15 mum of which shall be the total of the maximum limits of such sentences.
16 For purposes of determining the date upon which such a person shall be 17 eligible for consideration for release on parole, the board shall consider the 18 minimum sentence of such person to be the total aggregate of all of the 19 minimum limits of such consecutive sentences and the maximum sentence
20 of such person to be the total aggregate of all of the maximum limits of such 21 consecutive sentences.

22 With regard to consecutive sentences imposed upon prisoners prior to
23 July 3, 1950, such consecutive sentences, with the consent of the prisoner,
24 may be aggregated by the board to produce a single sentence, the minimum
25 and maximum of which shall consist of the total of the minima and maxima of 26 such consecutive sentences. Such aggregation shall be for the purpose of 27 establishing the date upon which such prisoner shall be eligible for consider-
28 ation for release on parole.

29 When any such prisoner is released on parole, the period of his super-
30 vision under parole shall be measured by the aggregated maxima of his con-
31 secutive sentences.

32 Notwithstanding any of the other provisions of this act, whenever it shall 33 appear that the date upon which a prisoner shall be eligible for considera-
34 tion for release on parole occurs later than the date upon which he would 35 be so eligible if a life sentence had been imposed upon him, then, and in 36 such case, he shall be deemed eligible for consideration for release on pa-
37 role after having served 25 years of his sentence, or sentences, less commu-
38 tation time for good behavior and time credits earned and allowed by rea-
39 son of diligent application to work assignments.

1 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

STATEMENT

This bill is designed to provide first offenders with the same deductions from their maximum sentences for good behavior and diligent assignment to work credits as is given under the law to second, third and fourth offenders.

STATEMENT

This bill is designed to provide first offenders with the same deductions from their maximum sentences for good behavior and diligent assignment to work credits as is given under the law to second, third and fourth offenders.

Additionally, it becomes necessary to make provision for aggregation of consecutive sentences imposed upon prisoners after July 3, 1950, to establish an eligibility date for release on parole. In the present law, a procedure is established for aggregating such sentences when imposed by the same court at the same time and when imposed by different courts at different times prior to July 3, 1950, but, through inadvertence, no provision was made for aggregation of consecutive sentences imposed by different courts at different times after July 3, 1950. This has created a situation on minimum and maximum sentences which results in discrimination against prisoners in this category and needlessly complicates the administration of the Prison and the Parole Board.
