STATEMENT

Under present law if intangible property such as travelers checks, stock dividends, money orders or bank deposits remain unclaimed for a certain number of years, that property is presumed abandoned and title to the property reverts or "escheats" to the State. 7

This bill is aimed at revising New Jersey escheatment 9 legislation in conformity with the "Uniform Unclaimed Property Act (1981)", promulgated by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. 11

Generally, the uniform act provides that unclaimed intangible 13 property is payable to the state of the last known address of the owner, and, in those instances when that information is unknown or when the state of the owner's last known address does not 15 assert a claim to the property, it is payable to the state of the 17 holders domicile.

The uniform act also provides that title to the unclaimed 19 property does not vest in the state but remains in the owner. The state takes custody of the property until the owner or his successors assert a claim thereto. Until a successful claim to the 21 property is made by the owner or his successors, the state has the 23 full use of the property.

The following is a brief description of the provisions of the uniform act. 25

Article 1 contains provisions such as definitions which are applicable throughout the act. Article 1 also states that the act 27 is not applicable to foreign transactions and that any duty with 29 regard to unclaimed property arising out of prior law continues to exist.

Article 2 establishes the general rule as to when unclaimed 31 property is presumed abandoned, which is five years unless a different time period is specified in the act. 33

Article 3 sets forth the general rules under which the State may take custody of unclaimed intangible property if the 35 conditions raising a presumption of abandonment have been satisfied. For example, property is subject to New Jersey's 37 custody if the last known address of the apparent owner is in New 39 lersey.

Article 4 is concerned with travelers checks and money orders.

7 Article 6 relates to bank deposits and funds in financial institutions. Under Article 6's provisions, in the absence of a 9 showing of any of the circumstances set forth therein, any demand savings or matured time deposit, including a deposit that
11 is automatically renewable, and any funds paid toward the purchase of any interest in a financial institution is presumed 13 abandoned after 10 years.

Article 7 is concerned with funds owning under life or 15 endowment insurance policies or annuity contracts. Those funds are presumed abandoned after the policies or contracts have 17 matured or terminated and remain unclaimed for more than five years as established from the records of the company.

Article 8 provides that a security payment paid in advance for utility services will be presumed to be abandoned if it remains unpaid for more than one year after the termination of services.

Article 9 provides any sum ordered to be refunded by a court or 23 administrative agency which remains unclaimed for one year after becoming payable shall be presumed abandoned.

Article 10 provides that stock or other intangible ownership interest in a business association is presumed abandoned if a dividend, distribution or other sum payable as a result of the interest remains unclaimed for seven years and the owner has not communicated with the association with regard thereto.

Article 11 provides that intangible property distributable in the 31 course of dissolution of a business association is presumed abandoned if it is not claimed for more than one year after the 33 date specified for final distribution.

Article 12 relates to property held by agents and fiduciaries..

Article 13 provides that intangible property held by a court,
State or other governmental agency is presumed abandoned if it is not claimed by the owner for more than 10 years after

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

DATED: JUNE 16, 1988

The Senate Judiciary Committee reports favorably and with committee amendments Senate Bill No. 2093.

Under present law if intangible property such as travelers checks, stock dividends, money orders or bank deposits remain unclaimed for a certain number of years, that property is presumed abandoned and the property reverts or "escheats" to the State.

This bill is aimed at revising New Jersey escheat law (N.J.S.A. 2A:37-1 et seq.) to conform with the "Uniform Unclaimed Property Act (1981)", promulgated by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

Generally, the uniform act provides that unclaimed intangible property is payable to the state of the last known address of the owner, and in those instances when that information is unknown or when the state of the owner's last known address does not assert a claim to the property, it is payable to the state of the holder's domicile.

The uniform act also provides that title to the unclaimed property does not vest in the state but remains in the owner. The state takes custody of the property until the owner or his successors assert a claim thereto. Until a successful claim to the property is made by the owner or his successors, the state has the full use of the property.

The following is a brief description of the provisions of the uniform act.

Article 1 contains provisions such as definitions which are applicable throughout the act. Article 1 also states that the act is not applicable to foreign transactions and that any duty with regard to unclaimed property arising out of prior law continues to exist.

Article 2 establishes the general rule as to when unclaimed property is presumed abandoned, which is five years unless a different time period is specified in the act. Article 3 sets forth the general rules under which the State may take custody of unclaimed intangible property if the conditions raising a presumption of abandonment have been satisfied. For example, property is subject to New Jersey's custody if the last known address of the apparent owner is in New Jersey.

Article 4 governs travelers checks and money orders. A travelers check is presumed abandoned if it has been outstanding for more than 15 years. A money order is presumed abandoned if outstanding more than seven years.

Article 5 is concerned with checks or drafts on which a financial institution is directly liable, including a cashier's check or a certified check. These instruments are presumed to be abandoned if they have been outstanding for more than five years, unless the owners have communicated with the financial institution or otherwise have indicated an interest.

Article 6 relates to bank deposits and funds in financial institutions. In the absence of a showing of any of the circumstances set forth in this article, any demand savings or matured time deposit, including a deposit that is automatically renewable, and any funds paid toward the purchase of any interest in a financial institution is presumed abandoned after 10 years.

Article '7 is concerned with funds owing under life or endowment insurance policies or annuity contracts. Those funds are presumed abandoned after the policies or contracts have matured or terminated and remain unclaimed for more than five years as established from the records of the company.

Article 8 provides that a security payment paid in advance for utility services will be presumed to be abandoned if it remains unclaimed for more than one year after the termination of services.

Article 9 provides that any sum that a business association has been ordered to be refunded by a court or administrative agency which remains unclaimed for one year after becoming payable shall be presumed abandoned.

Article 10 provides that stock or other intangible ownership interest in a business association is presumed abandoned if a dividend, distribution or other sum payable as a result of the interest remains unclaimed for seven years and the owner has not communicated with the association with regard thereto. Article 11 provides that intangible property distributable in the course of dissolution of a business association is presumed abandoned if it is not claimed for more than one year after the date specified for final distribution.

Article 12 governs property held by agents and fiduciaries.

Article 13 provides that intangible property held by a court, State or other governmental agency is presumed abandoned if it is not claimed by the owner for more than 10 years after becoming payable or distributable.

Article 14 provides that credit memos are presumed abandoned if they are not claimed for more than five years after becoming payable.

Article 15 provides that wages which remain unclaimed for more than one year are presumed abandoned.

Article 16 provides that property held in a safe deposit box or any other safekeeping repository or the proceeds of a sale permitted by any other law which remain unclaimed for more than five years after the lease on the box or other repository has expired are presumed to be abandoned.

Article 17 deals with the reports which holders of property presumed to be abandoned must file with the State Treasurer and the notices which must be given to the apparent owner of the property.

Article 18 requires the State Treasurer to publish a notice in a newspaper following the filing of the reports required under Article 17.

Article 19 relates to the payment or delivery of abandoned property and requires a person filing a report under Article 17 to pay or deliver the property to the State Treasurer.

Article 20 provides that upon payment or delivery to the State Treasurer, the State assumes custody and responsibility for the property and the holder is relieved of all liability with regard to any claims.

Article 21 provides that the owner is entitled to any dividends, interest or other increments on property other than money which accrues on the property before conversion into money.

Article 22 relates to the sale of abandoned property. Generally, the State Treasurer is required to sell the property within three years after receipt, at public sale, after public advertising, to the highest bidder. The Treasurer may decline the highest bid and reoffer the property for sale if he determines that the bid is insufficient.

Article 23 provides that the State Treasurer shall promptly deposit in the General State Fund all funds received except the portion to be retained in a special trust fund, the Unclaimed Personal Property Trust Fund, for prompt payment of claims.

Article 24 relates to the filing of claims for property paid or delivered to the State Treasurer by any person except another state. The claim shall be filed on a form prescribed by the State Treasurer. The State Treasurer shall consider a claim within 90 days after it is filed and give written notice to the claimant if the claim is denied.

Article 25 relates to claims of another state as to property which has been paid or delivered to the administrator. A claiming state is required to indemnify this State, its officers and employees against any liability on a claim for the property before the property is remitted.

Article 26 provides that any person who is dissatisfied by a decision of the State Treasurer may bring an action in the Superior Court to establish a claim.

Article 27 permits the State Treasurer to decline to receive certain reported property and permits a holder to report and deliver property to the State Treasurer before it is presumed abandoned.

Article 28 authorizes the State Treasurer to destroy or otherwise dispose of property that has insubstantial commercial value.

Article 29 provides that the expiration of any statute of limitations under which an owner's claim against a holder may be barred does not prevent the property from being presumed abandoned or affect any duty to report or deliver the property to the State Treasurer.

Article 30 relates to requests for reports and examination of records.

Article 31 relates to the retention of records. Every holder required to file a report under Article 17, as to any property for which the holder has obtained the last known address of the owner, shall maintain a record of the name and last known address of the owner for a period of 10 years after the property becomes reportable unless a shorter time is provided by rule of the State Treasurer. Article 32 authorizes the State Treasurer to bring an action in a court of competent jurisdiction to enforce the provisions of the act.

By amendment, the committee added three section to Article 32. These sections authorize the Treasurer to commence an action in federal court or in other courts or to intervene in other proceedings to enforce the provisions of this act. The amendments also clarify that the Treasurer is an indispensable party to any judicial or administrative proceeding concerning the disposition and handling of unclaimed property that is or may be payable to the Treasurer.

Article 33 authorizes the State Treasurer to enter into an agreement with other states and sets forth those matters which may be set forth in the agreement. The purposes of the article is to facilitate the administration and enforcement of the act by and between this State and other states that adopt the act.

STATEMENT

Since 1967, New Jersey has taken a protective custodial approach to unclaimed property. It is the public policy of this State that all unclaimed property shall be placed into the protective custody of the State Treasurer after the property has remained unclaimed in the hands of the holder for a specified period of time. The rights of the original party in interest shall not be forfeited or extinguished. The State Treasurer serves as the conservator or trustee of the unclaimed property, acting always, and with full authority, to safeguard and foster the rights of the original owner or party entitled to the property.

Any public or private provision, contract; agreement, or understanding in any form shall be void as contrary to this public policy, if the purpose or effect of that provision is to evade, avoid, or contradict the custodial taking of unclaimed property by the State Treasurer.

Any person having knowledge or information concerning unclaimed property that is or might be payable or distributable to the State Treasurer shall have a duty to notify the State Treasurer within a reasonable time. If the person having that information is the holder of the unclaimed property, he shall satisfy this duty by presenting a report to the Treasurer as set forth in this act.

Until such time as the unclaimed property is presumed abandoned, reported, and paid or delivered to the State Treasurer, a holder of unclaimed property shall have a continuing duty to take reasonable and prudent action to preserve and safeguard the property and shall not allow the property to be dissipated, transferred, converted, or reduced by any means, other than as permitted by this chapter or by regulation of the State Treasurer.

It is the intention of the Legislature that the limitations period set forth in R.S. 46:30B-89 shall not commence until the State has notice of the holder's failure to comply with the duty that is the subject of the action or proceeding brought by the administrator against the holder.

These amendments recognize and codify many of the current policies and practices of the State Treasurer with respect to unclaimed property. In some cases these amendments adopt provisions of the "Uniform Unclaimed Property Act (1981)," the uniform act upon which this bill is based. In other cases these amendments address circumstances not specifically covered by the uniform act yet currently addressed in the New Jersey statutes. R.S. 46:30B-4 is amended to apply prospectively the penalty and interest provisions in the bill to property which was required to be reported under pre-existing New Jersey law, thereby providing an inducement for compliance. R.S. 46:30B-104 and 46:30B-105 conform the penalty provisions of the bill to those contained in the uniform act. Further amendments to the interest and penalties sections in Article 34 provide the State Treasurer the discretion to waive the payment of penalties and interest, and the authority to calculate the penalty and interest to be assessed in cases where unclaimed property, previously payable or distributable to the Treasurer, is subsequently discovered during an examination. The enforcement provision (Article 32) is also amended to specifically authorize the Treasurer to commence appropriate actions to enforce this legislation and to participate in any litigation impacting upon unclaimed property and its disposition.

Some amendments conform the bill to many of the current practices of the State Treasurer. For instance, as an accommodation to holders of unclaimed property, the Treasurer currently permits holders to simultaneously deliver the unclaimed property to the Treasurer at the time the holder files its report of unclaimed property with the Treasurer, rather than some period of time after the filing of the report. Both the Treasurer and holders of unclaimed property find this practice to be most efficient and it is therefore incorporated in these amendments (R.S. 46:30B-57). Other amendments amend the construction clause (R.S. 46:30B-2); expand the definition of "administrator" (R.S. 46:30B-6); provide for the preservation of the confidentiality of records that are confidential in the custody of the holder and which are delivered to the Treasurer (R.S. 46:30B-76); and impose limitations upon agreements to find or locate apparent owners of unclaimed property, limitations that are similar to those adopted by other states enacting the uniform act (R.S. 46:308-106).

SenateBill No. 888 OCR (AR) of '86 Sponsored by Senator Russo Page 24 of 24

Article 13, concerning property held by courts and public agencies, and Article 17, concerning report of abandoned property, are amended to incorporate procedures for court and surrogate deposits which are similar to those procedures contained in current statutes that are being repealed by this bill. Another amendment to Article 13 conforms the dormancy period for property in the custody of governmental entities, other than the courts or surrogates, to the provisions of the uniform act.

Article 7 is amended to provide a general provision that, even where property has remained unclaimed for the statutory time period, the property will not be presumed abandoned if the owner has, within the statutory time period, communicated with the holder of the property. This general provision is consistent with communication provisions contained in specific sections of the uniform act, and it is made applicable throughout the bill.

Finally, Article 12 of the bill and N.J.S. 2A:19-42 and N.J.S. 3B:23-21 are amended to conform existing statutes and the provisions of this bill insofar as those statutes deal with the disposition of unclaimed property.
