STATEMENT

10

11 Under current law, the children or surviving spouses of certain
12 public safety workers, such as members of police and fire
13 departments, who are killed in the performance of their duties may 14 be eligible for a higher education tuition benefit. To be eligible, the 15 child or spouse must be enrolled in good standing at an
16 undergraduate program in the State. The State will pay full tuition
17 costs to a public institution of higher education and full or partial 18 tuition costs to an independent institution of higher education. The 19 current law limits eligibility to eight years following the death of 20 the worker, in the case of a spouse, and eight years following high
21 school graduation, in the case of a child. This bill eliminates the 22 eligibility time limit on spouses.

ASSEMBLY APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE

STATEMENT TO

SENATE, No. 376

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

DATED: JANUARY 6, 2020

The Assembly Appropriations Committee reports favorably Senate Bill No. 376.

This bill eliminates the eligibility time limit on tuition benefits for spouses of certain public safety workers killed in the performance of their duties.

Under current law, the children or surviving spouses of certain public safety workers, such as members of police and fire departments, who are killed in the performance of their duties may be eligible for a higher education tuition benefit. To be eligible, the child or spouse must be enrolled in good standing at an undergraduate program in the State. The State will pay full tuition costs to a public institution of higher education and full or partial tuition costs to an independent institution of higher education. Current law limits eligibility to eight years following the death of the worker, in the case of a spouse, and eight years following high school graduation, in the case of a child.

As reported by the committee, Senate Bill No. 376 is identical to Assembly Bill No. 3849, which also was reported by the committee on this date.

FISCAL IMPACT:

The Office of Legislative Services (OLS) anticipates that this bill may lead to a minimal increase in State expenditures in the form of tuition payments. Given the typical age distribution of students enrolled in higher education in the State, it is unlikely that eliminating the time limit under the bill would lead to a significant increase in the number of individuals who receive the benefit.

SENATE HIGHER EDUCATION COMMITTEE

STATEMENT TO

SENATE, No. 376

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

DATED: FEBRUARY 8, 2018

The Senate Higher Education Committee reports favorably Senate Bill No. 376.

Under current law, the children or surviving spouses of certain public safety workers, such as members of police and fire departments, who are killed in the performance of their duties may be eligible for a higher education tuition benefit. To be eligible, the child or spouse must be enrolled in good standing at an undergraduate program in the State. The State will pay full tuition costs to a public institution of higher education and full or partial tuition costs to an independent institution of higher education. The current law limits eligibility to eight years following the death of the worker, in the case of a spouse, and eight years following high school graduation, in the case of a child. This bill eliminates the eligibility time limit on spouses.

This bill was pre-filed for introduction in the 2018-2019 session pending technical review. As reported, the bill includes the changes required by technical review, which has been performed.

SENATE BUDGET AND APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE

STATEMENT TO

SENATE, No. 376

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

DATED: MARCH 5, 2018

The Senate Budget and Appropriations Committee reports favorably Senate Bill No. 376.

This bill eliminates the eligibility time limit on tuition benefits for spouses of certain public safety workers killed in the performance of their duties.

Under current law, the children or surviving spouses of certain public safety workers, such as members of police and fire departments, who are killed in the performance of their duties may be eligible for a higher education tuition benefit. To be eligible, the child or spouse must be enrolled in good standing at an undergraduate program in the State. The State will pay full tuition costs to a public institution of higher education and full or partial tuition costs to an independent institution of higher education. Current law limits eligibility to eight years following the death of the worker, in the case of a spouse, and eight years following high school graduation, in the case of a child.

FISCAL IMPACT:

The Office of Legislative services anticipates that the bill may lead to a minimal increase in State expenditures in the form of tuition payments. Given the typical age distribution of students enrolled in institutions of higher learning in the State, it is unlikely that eliminating that time limit under the bill would lead to a significant increase in the number of individuals who would receive the benefit.

LEGISLATIVE FISCAL ESTIMATE
SENATE, No. 376
STATE OF NEW JERSEY
218th LEGISLATURE

DATED: MARCH 9, 2018

SUMMARY

Synopsis: Eliminates eligibility time limit on tuition benefits for spouses of certain public safety workers killed in performance of their duties.

Type of Impact: Minimal Expenditure Increase

Agencies Affected: Higher Education Student Assistance Authority

Office of Legislative Services Estimate

Fiscal Impact	Year 1	Year 2	Year 3
State Cost		Minimal Increase

- The Office of Legislative Services (OLS) anticipates that this bill may lead to a minimal increase in State expenditures in the form of tuition payments. Given the typical age distribution of students enrolled in institutions of higher education in the State, it is unlikely that eliminating the time limit under the bill would lead to a significant increase in the number of individuals who would receive the benefit.

BILL DESCRIPTION

Under current law, the State pays the tuition of a child or surviving spouse of certain public safety workers who were killed during the performance of their duties. In the case of an individual who enrolls in an independent institution of higher education, the State will pay an amount not to exceed the highest tuition charged by a public institution. The eligibility for this benefit is time limited. In the case of a child, the benefit is limited to eight years following the child's graduation from high school. In the case of a surviving spouse, the benefit is limited to eight years following the death of the public safety worker. This bill eliminates the time restriction that currently applies to surviving spouses.

FISCAL ANALYSIS

EXECUTIVE BRANCH

None received.

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE SERVICES

The OLS anticipates that this bill may lead to a minimal increase in State expenditures. As currently structured, the New Jersey Survivor Tuition Benefit Program is significantly smaller than other State student assistance programs. In recent fiscal years, the annual expenditure has typically ranged between $30,000 and $50,000, and usually benefits approximately five students. The bill would expand eligibility to surviving spouses of public safety workers who were killed in the line of duty more than eight years ago. Given that the median age of a first marriage in New Jersey is approximately 30 years old, the legislation would most likely impact individuals who are at least 40 years old. This age group accounts for a small share of undergraduate students, and the OLS expects that there would be few individuals of this age who enroll in an undergraduate program and are surviving spouses of public safety workers who were killed in the line of duty.
