34 This bill would require institutions of higher education, and 35 related research facilities, to offer cats and dogs no longer used for 36 educational, research, or scientific purposes to animal rescue
37 organizations for adoption prior to euthanizing the animals. The 38 bill would not apply to cats or dogs that are required to be 39 euthanized for health or safety reasons. Under the bill, an 40 institution or facility that is required to offer cats or dogs for 41 adoption through an animal rescue organization may enter into an 42 agreement with an animal rescue organization to meet this 43 requirement on an on-going basis. Also, under the bill, an 44 institution or facility that provides a cat or dog to an animal rescue
45 organization would be immune from any civil liability resulting 46 from the transfer of the animal, provided the institution or facility
47 acted in good faith concerning the health and physical condition of

SENATE ENVIRONMENT AND ENERGY COMMITTEE

STATEMENT TO

SENATE, No. 2826

with committee amendments

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

DATED: SEPTEMBER 13, 2018

The Senate Environment and Energy Committee favorably reports Senate Bill No. 2826, with committee amendments.

The bill, as amended, would require an institution of higher education that uses cats or dogs for educational, research, or scientific purposes to assess a cat or dog to determine whether it is suitable for adoption, when the cat or dog is no longer needed for educational, research, or scientific purposes. If the institution determines that the cat or dog is suitable for adoption, the institution would be required to offer the cat or dog to an animal rescue organization or private individual for adoption. Under the bill, as amended, an institution that is required to offer a cat or dog for adoption may enter into an agreement with an animal rescue organization or private individual to implement the requirements of the bill on an on-going basis.

Under the bill, as amended, an institution of higher education that provides a cat or dog to an animal rescue organization or private individual would be immune from any civil liability arising from the transfer of the cat or dog, provided the institution acted in good faith concerning suitability of the cat or dog for adoption. Finally, the bill, as amended, would authorize an institution to establish guidelines or other qualifications in order to determine if a cat or dog is suitable for adoption, or to determine whether an animal rescue organization or private individual is qualified to receive a cat or dog for adoption.

The proposed committee amendments to the bill would:

(1) eliminate the requirement that facilities that conduct research in collaboration with an institution of higher education comply with the requirement of the bill to offer cats or dogs for adoption that have been used for educational, research, or scientific purposes;

(2) require that an institution of higher education assess a cat or dog that is no longer needed for educational, research, or scientific purposes to determine whether it is suitable for adoption and require that those cats and dogs deemed suitable be offered for adoption;

(3) permit an institution to offer a cat or dog to a private individual for adoption;

(4) remove references that allow euthanasia for health or safety reasons from the bill;

(5) change the provisions concerning immunity from civil liability arising from the transfer of a cat or dog to provide protection when the institution of higher education has acted in good faith concerning the "suitability" instead of the "health and physical condition" of the cat or dog for adoption;

(6) permit an institution of higher education to establish guidelines or other qualifications in order to determine if a cat or dog is suitable for adoption, or to determine whether an animal rescue organization or private individual is qualified to receive a cat or dog for adoption;

(7) authorize an institution of higher education to enter into an agreement with a private individual in addition to animal rescue organizations to implement the provisions of the bill on an ongoing basis; and

(8) designate the bill as the "Homes for Animal Heroes Act."

SENATE, No. 2826
